The Eastern News

Our readers will find in the dispatch this morning intelligence of a disaster which is deeply to be regretted Fort Pillow, a fortification on the Mississippi, in Tennessee, below Columbus, Ky, is between Cairo and Memphis, and has always been deemed an important point It seems, however, that a large rebel force under Forrest was enabled, probably by the management of treasonable sympathizers in that State, to work its way to the river, and has succeeded in capturing the fort, the savage atrocities on the part of the rebels toward the negro soldiers and their officers, deserve universal execration We hope that the time will speedily come when just vengeance may visit such brutal conduct without mercy

Kentucky seems again to be likely to suffer terribly from the influence of some of her own disloyal people,—thus confirming the reports which have been made as to the intention of the rebel authorities to change the scene of Southwest military operations We had hoped that the Government would be able to defeat this purpose, though perhaps it was deemed expedient to allow its partial accomplishment

There are many other interesting items of Congressional and various news, upon which we have neither time or space to comment The rise of gold continues, we are not surprised at this, nor do we think it should cause any anxiety or suspicion While such an immense and constantly increasing amount of currency is in circulation, and at a season when foreign importations are crowding the Custom Houses, it is not strange that paper money should grow weak under the ponderous blows which coin—the standard currency of the world—always can inflict upon it We deem it rather the matter of wonder that gold has not gone higher long before this, and we shall not be surprised if it advances still more

The Democratic Platform

This peculiar document, worthy of its source and its endorsers, does not express the slightest disposition to support the Government. True, it does, with the cautious hesitancy of a sick horse walking among chickens, say, "we condemn the action of those States which have placed themselves in rebellion against the Government," but then in the same resolution, it denounces the usurpations and the tyranny of the Administration with as much vigor and violence, and a good deal more temper than it does the rebels The platform does not intimate the slightest sympathy with the Government in its efforts to crush the rebellion it is full of opposition and reproach, and could have passed in a convention of rebels in South Carolina, with scarcely a change of a word We respectfully ask the people of the State to read the resolutions for themselves, and judge then whether a party announcing such disloyal doctrines, or candidates who sustain them, are worthy of the support of any man who loves his country and desires its life to be continued Such notions carried out and adopted, would surrender the nation, bound hand and foot, to Jeff Davis and his Confederacy We know that the citizens of Oregon have no sympathy with any such infamous political heresies—we are sure that they will not, by their action in June, endorse even seemingly a scheme of disloyalty, which has no regard for liberty, for humanity or for the safety and protection of the Republic against its determined and most relentless foes

CHANGE OF TIME —By the action of the last Legislative Assembly in Washington Territory, the day of election is now the first Monday in June, instead of the second of July, as heretofore This fact had escaped our notice, until a citizen there who supposed it was not generally known called our attention to it, so that there might be no default, by mistake or ignorance of the change of law Men who love the Union in the Territory ought to be alive and active we know that they are compelled to carry burden grievous to be borne, but they can do that, we hope and still save the honor and loyalty of their adopted home

UNFORTUNATE —The Washington correspondent of the Sacramento Union says that Mr. McGilvra, District Attorney of Washington Territory was relieved of his pocket-book containing $1,150 in currency, by a pickpocket, at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad depot, while on his way to New York to take the steamer for California He remains behind "flat broke"

The Olive Branch was fired at by the rebels but was not injured. CHICAGO April 15 —Specials say it has been discovered that the demand for the surrender of Columbus was only a ruse to get an opportunity to steal horses. The citizens have returned

The Times' account of the capture of Fort Pillow says On the morning of the 12th Forrest Chalmers and McCullough, with from 6,000 to 8 000 men attacked the Fort which was garrisoned by a battalion of the 13th Tennessee Cavalry, 300 men and 200 negroes Some citizens were also inside the Fort who fought well The women and children were sent over on an island. The enemy were hid and fired from behind cover for some time The surrender was demanded several times without effect. At last the enemy formed in two columns and made a direct assault All the troops in the Fort fought like heroes until the rebels were seen on the breastworks, when the negro troops gave way and ran down under the river bank The white troops were ordered to take their place, but the derangement of the lines could not be remedied and the enemy poured in, forcing the Federals back to the river where they were compelled to give up The gunboat Number Seven threw 240 shells, but did not do much damage to the enemy Our troops spiked three guns which were captured by the enemy who afterwards set fire to everything combustible burning all the houses in town The negroes who had taken refuge under the river bank were shot wherever found, notwithstanding the surrender Forty nine white troops were also shot and wounded after the surrender The enemy took about 100 prisoners, the wounded number 65 and the remainder are killed When the steamer Platte Valley left on the evening of the 13th the enemy were still there and expressed their determination to remain Citizens were returning

[illegible] dispatches quote gold in New York at 165@170½

TO OUR READERS —A party or a candidate which can ask or seek support only by abusing opponents is very weak In the political contest which is now before us, we have a cause, abundantly full of merit It is the sublime defence of our country against treason, and its unrighteous sympathizers, it is the manly support of the integrity of our free institutions against those who openly or secretly are combining to accomplish their overthrow We have candidates also, whose abilities and excellence may safely challenge comparison with those of any, whom our opponents can put in the field Our Congressional nominee is a man of undoubted integrity, intelligence and capacity, he will be triumphantly elected over any antagonist and beyond a question, will prove himself thoroughly furnished for every good word and work On this score, we have no anxiety or fear whatever, and we feel proud that the Union party in Oregon will this year have an opportunity by defeating the best man that our opponents can name to show the strength of its devotion to patriotism and its determination to stand boldly and faithfully by the Government Nothing that savors of sympathy with the rebellion—no man who hesitates to avow his entire and sincere consecration to the sacred purpose of saving his country, can receive the endorsement of our State, the warm and earnest heart of its people beats only in sympathy with Liberty and Union, now and forever

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION —The New York Post revives the history of the different amendments which have been added to the Constitution since its formation in 1787

Twelve amendments to the Constitution already exist By the terms of article five of the constitution, amendments may be proposed either by Congress or by a convention called on the application of the legislatures of two thirds of the states, but all the amendments now existing have been proposed by Congress, and have been ratified by state legislatures without the call of a national convention Twelve articles of amendments were passed in Congress on the 25th of September, 1789, by the requisite two thirds vote Ten of them were approved by the legislatures of three fourths of the states, and became amendments of the constitution on the 15th of December, 1791—more than two years afterwards The eleventh amendment was proposed in Congress on the 5th of March, 1794, and became a part of the constitution on the 8th of January, 1798, nearly four years afterwards The twelfth was proposed in Congress on the 12th of December, 1803 and was adopted by the constitutional number of states in 1804

OHIO ELECTION —The Copperhead press have made a great ado about the soldiers' vote in Ohio charging that Brough was elected by fraud committed under the act of allowing the soldiers to vote The official returns show that Brough was elected by 21 000 majority without a single soldier's vote The Democratic Press and Express have tooted their copper horns very loudly on this point charging fraud and fuming the soldiers to vote for Brough when they would have voted for that pure [illegible] of treason, Vallandigham Will these persons now correct their misstatements, and give their readers the facts?—Appeal

EMIGRATION FROM IRELAND —It is estimated that above 125 000 immigrants have arrived in the Northern State of America during the past twelve months from Ireland alone an unusually large portion of them being able bodied men If we suppose only one fifth of these enter the army that makes 25,000 men each year to supply the necessary gaps made by war and disease. Should the immigration continue for another year Ireland will in all probability have furnished in three years 75 000 men British subjects—a large army in itself—to support the cause of the Federal Government —Ex

TOWNSHIP MAPS.—On Saturday last we were shown a series of township maps, for Multnomah county, recently copied from the official maps at the U. S. Land Office, by Mr. G. W. Burrage, County Surveyor. They show all townships in this county, and those that border on the county, with a part in Multnomah, are also given entire. The lines of each claim, or parcel of land, occupied or unoccupied, are shown, also the river courses, the bars, and islands, are seen at a glance. We were surprised to see the amount of vacant land lying in our county, the greater portion of which would seem to be valuable for agricultural purposes. Mr. Burrage has taken great precaution to have his draft correctly divided and made up, and it will be found to be of great convenience as a reference by property holders and others.

STEAMBOAT MATTERS.—The steamer Cowlitz, Capt. Olson, has been chartered by the Monticello and Cowlitz Landing Steamboat Company, to make tri-weekly trips with the United States mails, to Monticello, and to Pumpbrey's landing, in the place of the steamer Rescue, which is now making daily trips to the Cascades from this city. Under this new arrangement the opposition that had grown up between the Rescue and the Cowlitz Steamboat Company is done away with, and for the present the rate of fare for traveling on that line will go up to the old figures. But then, a new trouble seems to arise from this arrangement, and it is rumored that the Express, determined to have something to do, if run off the Cascades track by the Rescue, will come in for a lively opposition somewhere in the vicinity of the Cowlitz.

PLEASANT WEATHER.—Yesterday was a lovely day, clear, still, warm, and being the Sabbath, reminded us forcibly of the poetic description of just such another—

"Sweet day, so clear, so calm, so bright,
The bridal day of earth and sky."

The carolling of feathered songsters, the b...ming of many varieties of beautiful flowers, the walking, riding and driving, in various directions "the sound of the church going bell" to announce the hour for Divine service—everything, seemed to combine to make it one of the pleasant days of the year, in the city, and to be remembered in after times by many people.

GOING TO THE WHITE HOUSE.—The "receptions" given at "the White House" near Portland are on a little different scale from those given at the President's Mansion, in Washington City, yet they appear to be well ...ded. The rush on the Macadamized Road yesterday was unprecedented, sulkeys, wa..., baggage-wagons, express-wagons, lager beer wagons, and every kind of wagons, ...nt, were on the track, and the White ... was crowded. Among the throng it is fortunate that we have but two smash-ups to report; one a fine carriage owned at the livery stable corner of First and Salmon sts., and the Union Hotel baggage-wagon.

EQUESTRIANISM.—Yesterday a siwash on a horse, with a clootchman seated astride behind him, rode leisurely through the north end of the city, with the air of being monarch of all he surveyed. Probably all his earthly pos... were comprised in what we have mentioned, that he had along with him in ...tion. There were other specimens of ...trianism, during the day, in which exhibitions of lightning speed were tested, that would have been better, displayed "over the hills and far away" than in the streets of the city.

ARRIVAL OF THE COUCH.—The steamer John H. Couch, Capt. Holman, arrived on Saturday evening from Astoria. The bark Iwanowa, Capt. Brown, has been repaired, and is ready to go to sea. The bark Monitor, from San Francisco, was off the bar. This vessel has a considerable quantity of munitions, ... for the new Fort, which will be dis...d at Astoria. The Monitor was chartered for the trip by the Oregon Packet Line, in the absence of any of their own vessels at San Francisco.

BAD BOYS.—It is true that Portland can turn out a set of very bad boys, and were we called upon to censure their course we should give no small share of it to the parents who so neglect their children as to let them run unchecked day and night, a curse to themselves and a nuisance to society. At the close of services, at one of our principal Churches last evening, the conduct of this class of boys was disgraceful, and deserved the attention of the police.

DOWN AGAIN.—Some how there seems to be a fatality attending the "bottom" of the old steamer Maria, since she returned to American waters. After being raised and relieved of her machinery, the hull was floated to the other side of the river, and tied up, to be made into a barge, but before the work was commenced it sank again.

A LARGE MILL.—A large 10-stamp quartz mill for the Ainsworth Mining Company, in the Owyhee District, will arrive on the bark Monitor. The Superintendent of the mill leaves this city to-day with the plans of the ground work, intending to be ready for the machinery as soon as it shall reach there.

TURNING OUT TO GRASS.—The horses that have been in use the past winter by the California Stage Line, are being taken to the Company's ranches to recuperate, and are superceded by fresh American horses. The change has been made at Oregon City, and the coaches are to commence running to this city to-day.

CHINOOK SALMON.—The best Salmon are said to come from the mouth of the Columbia river. They are caught in large quantities at Chinook Point, and Mr. Rickards of the Couch, advertises that he can now supply parties in Portland regularly with the best.

JULIA DEAN HAYNE.—This lady will conclude her professional visit to the city to-night. It being her farewell benefit and last appearance we are sure that our citizens will turn out and fill the Theatre, showing by their presence that they appreciate and will support first class talent. The performance will consist of the beautiful domestic drama of the "Belle of the Faubourg," and the comedy of "The Honeymoon," which was received on a former representation with great favor.

A PRESENT WORTH HAVING.—Of course any present, however trivial, is worth acceptance, as its value is not intrinsic, but is to be measured by the unseen jewels of sentiment that imagination invests it with. Still, one does not object to a present having high intrinsic value. Where a woman knows he can afford, she will not think the less of a present from her husband for its having cost from forty to two hundred dollars. Not a bit of it. Now, we have in our mind's eye, just such a present as a true wife would like to receive from her worse half. Such of our readers as would see it in its substantial form, may do so, by stepping into the sale-room of Messrs. Grover & Baker. In one of their sewing machines, so perfect in their construction, and so nicely adapted to every kind of work, we find that a genuine husband, who loves his wife, and would, therefore, lighten her heart by lightening her household cares, will find just such a present as he ought to feel bound to give her at this season of festivity and gratefulness. The prices of the machine, which are marvelously simple, and require no uncommon skill to manage, are from forty-five dollars upward. Let every sensible father of a family buy one, and in six months it will save itself in "weariness and vexation of spirit" alone.—Philadelphia Mercury.

J. W. J. Person is the local agent for this city.

CONVICTED.—William Robinson, indicted by the Grand Jury of Benton County for killing William Grubbs last winter, was tried on Tuesday of this week, found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to one year's imprisonment in the Penitentiary. A petition was immediately put in circulation, and signed by the Judge, ten of the Jurors that tried the case, and a respectable number of citizens, asking His Excellency, Governor Gibbs, to exercise in this case the pardoning power of the Executive.—Corvallis Gazette.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED

CONCLUSIVE PROOF
OF THE EFFICACY OF
HOSTETTER'S
STOMACH BITTERS!

PROTECTIVE MEDICATION

Great Truths
—IN—
SMALL COMPASS!

WHAT THE BITTERS ARE.
A pure, delightful, Vegetable Balm,
To cheer the spirits and the nerves to calm,
Protect the system from Miasma's bane,
Rouse torpid Nature and the strength sustain.

THEIR INGREDIENTS.
Juices of plants, roots, barks, of virtues rare,
By chemic art expressed with patient care,
And the mild spirit of the soundest rye—
Purest of all diffusive stimuli.

RESULTS OF THEIR USE.
Digestion rallies, appetite revives,
The food assimilates, the patient thrives,
Dyspepsia vanishes, with all its throes,
And peaceful sleep succeeds disturbed repose.

EFFECTS ON THE LIVER
The bilious sufferer, languid, listless, pale,
Physicked for years, perhaps, without avail,
Finds in the BITTERS all he asks or needs,
And lives to smile at doctors and their creeds.

OPERATION ON THE BOWELS.
Relaxed, constricted, or the seat of pain,
These organs should not, for one day, remain.
The cause of each extreme you can expel—
The BITTERS tone and regulate as well.

EFFECT ON THE DEBILITATED.
The flaccid muscles firmness soon acquire,
The frame gains flesh, the eye resumes its fire,
Strength to the limbs, hope to the heart returns,
Till staff and crutch the convalescent spurns.

BROKEN CONSTITUTION.
The constitution tried by pain or care,
Or wild indulgence, is not repair;
The genial Tonic, as the healthful dews
Quickens parched herbs, its wasted power renews.

CHILLS AND FEVER.
Damp, cold, exposure to ... various fog,
Brings on of ills a fearful ...
But intermittents, whatsoe'er their kind,
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS scatter to the wind.

SICK HEADACHE.
This torment dire, that all enjoyment kills,
Yields not to pungent scents or drastic pills,
'Tis from the stomach that it takes its rise;
Tone with the BITTERS, and the anguish flies.

WANT OF APPETITE.
Without due nourishment ... wane,
The blood grows thin and ... is the brain,
But this Elixir sets the system right,
And "Good Digestion waits on Appetite."

THE BITTERS AFTER SICKNESS.
Exhausting fever leaves its victim low,
And, unassisted, Health's return is slow;
Then with the Bitters weakened Nature aid,
For in each drop vitality's conveyed.

AS A GENERAL PREVENTIVE.
By night and day, on river, sea or land,
In instant peril of disease we stand;
But its dread arrows harmless seem to glide
Past all with this invigorant fortified.

IMPURE WATER, ETC.
Roam through the world, through every climate range,
Here is the antidote 'gainst every change,
Water impure it tempers, and insures
Men in all hardships to all temperatures.

SEA SICKNESS.
Who has not felt how feebly words essay
The qualms one feels on shipboard to portray?
Dread them no more, defy old Neptune's power,
The Bitters cure the nausea in an hour.

AN UNADULTERATED TONIC.
Of all the liquors borne across the sea
Not one—mark that—from acrid poison's free,
These Bitters stand 'mid stimulants alone,
Powerless to irritate, though prompt to tone.

A MILD APERIENT.
Remember, too, aperient root and herb,
Are blent with those that relaxation curb
In this rare mixture; give this fact due weight,
That while the Bitters tone, they regulate.

A GENTLE CORRECTIVE.
If on the stomach food to acid turns,
And pungent gas the inner membrane burns,
This grand corrective soon removes the ban,
And from the heartburn frees the inner man.

A SAFE AND GENTLE ANODYNE.
Why not with all the opiates dispense,
That shake the nerves and paralyze the sense,
When these rare BITTERS soothe both mind and frame,
Inviting both to yield to slumbers claim?

THE WORLD'S OPINION.
Touching the BITTERS, this grand fact is clear,
Their fame fills all the Western Hemisphere.
Known in all lands, washed by its oceans twain,
HEALTH, HOPE and VIGOR, follow in their train!

AVOID COUNTERFEITS.
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS share the common fate
Of all things good. Impostors imitate,
Of these beware. Discreetly use your eyes,
From honest houses purchase your supplies.

The Government Endorsement.
In order to guard against the impositions, the public are requested to take especial note of the beautifully engraved proprietary stamp, through which the Government of the United States officially authenticates every bottle of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. This shield, thrown by the Government over the proprietors and the public for their joint protection, is placed conspicuously across the cork and over the neck of each bottle, and cannot fail to strike the eye of the most casual observer. Nothing that purports to be HOSTETTER'S BITTERS can be genuine unless the stamp is there.
It is also proper to state that the BITTERS are sold exclusively in glass, and never under any circumstance by the gallon or the barrel. Impostors and imitators are abroad, and the only safeguard the public have against them is to see that the Bitters they buy bear the engraved label and note of hand of Messrs HOSTETTER & SMITH, and the stamp above mentioned.

TOWNSHIP MAPS.—On Saturday last we were shown a series of township maps, for Multnomah county, recently copied from the official maps at the U. S. Land Office, by Mr. G. W. Burrage, County Surveyor. They show all townships in this county, and those that border on the county, with a part in Multnomah, are also given entire. The lines of each claim, or parcel of land, occupied or unoccupied, are shown, also the river courses, the bars, and islands, are seen at a glance. We were surprised to see the amount of vacant land lying in our county, the greater portion of which would seem to be valuable, for agricultural purposes. Mr. Burrage has taken great precaution to have his draft correctly divided and made up, and it will be found to be of great convenience as a reference by property holders and others.

STEAMBOAT MATTERS.—The steamer Cowlitz, Capt. Olson, has been chartered by the Monticello and Cowlitz Landing Steamboat Company, to make tri-weekly trips with the United States mails, to Monticello, and to Pumphrey's landing, in the place of the steamer Rescue, which is now making daily trips to the Cascades from this city. Under this new arrangement the opposition that had grown up between the Rescue and the Cowlitz Steamboat Company. is done away with, and for the present the rate of fare for traveling on that line will go up to the old figures. But then, a new trouble seems to arise from this arrangement, and it is rumored that the Express, determined to have something to do, if run off the Cascades track by the Rescue, will come in for a lively opposition somewhere in the vicinity of the Cowlitz.

PLEASANT WEATHER. — Yesterday was a lovely day, clear, still, warm, and being the Sabbath, reminded us forcibly of the poetic description of just such another—

"Sweet day, so clear, so calm, so bright,
The bridal day of earth and sky."

The carolling of feathered songsters, the blossoming of many varieties of beautiful flowers, the walking, riding and driving, in various directions "the sound of the church going bell" to announce the hour for Divine Service—everything, seemed to combine to make it one of the pleasant days of the year, in the city, and to be remembered in after times by many people.

GOING TO THE WHITE HOUSE.—The "reception" given at "the White House" near Portland are on a little different scale from those given at the President's Mansion, in Washington City, yet they appear to be well ... led. The rush on the Macadamized road yesterday was unprecedented, sulkeys, ..., baggage-wagons, express-wagons, lager beer wagons, and every kind of wagons, ..., were on the track, and the White House was crowded. Among the throng it is fortunate that we have but two smash-ups to report; one a fine carriage owned at the livery stable corner of First and Salmon sts., and the Union Hotel baggage-wagon.

EQUESTRIANISM.—Yesterday a siwash on a horse, with a cloolchman seated astride behind him, rode leisurely through the north end of the city, with the air of being monarch of all he surveyed. Probably all his earthly possessions were comprised in what we have mentioned, that he had along with him in .... There were other specimens of ...ianism, during the day, in which ex...es of lightning speed were tested, that would have been better, displayed "over the hills and far away" than in the streets of the city.

ARRIVAL OF THE COUCH.—The steamer John H. Couch, Capt. Holman, arrived on Saturday, ...ing from Astoria. The bark Roanoke, Capt. Brown, has been repaired, and is ready to go to sea. The bark Monitor, from San Francisco, was off the bar. This vessel has a considerable quantity of munitions, for the new Fort, which will be discharged at Astoria. The Monitor was chartered for the trip by the Oregon Packet Line, in the absence of any of their own vessels at San Francisco.

BAD BOYS.—It is true that Portland can turn out a set of very bad boys, and were we called upon to censure their course we should give no small share of it to the parents who so neglect their children as to let them run unchecked day and night, a curse to themselves and a nuisance to society. At the close of services, at one of our principal Churches last evening, the conduct of this class of boys was disgraceful, and deserved the attention of the police.

DOWN AGAIN.—Some how there seems to be a fatality attending the "bottom" of the old steamer Maria, since she returned to American waters. After being raised and relieved of her machinery, the hull was floated to the other side of the river, and tied up, to be made into a barge, but before the work was commenced it sank again.

A LARGE MILL.—A large 10-stamp quartz mill for the Ainsworth Mining Company, in the Owyhee District, will arrive on the bark Monitor. The Superintendent of the mill leaves this city to-day with the plans of the ground work, intending to be ready for the machinery as soon as it shall reach there.

TURNING OUT TO GRASS.—The horses that have been in use the past winter by the California Stage Line, are being taken to the Company's ranches to recuperate, and are superceded by fresh American horses. The change has been made at Oregon City, and the coaches are to commence running to this city to-day.

CHINOOK SALMON.—The best Salmon are said to come from the mouth of the Columbia river. They are caught in large quantities at Chinook Point, and Mr. Rickards of the Couch, advertises that he can now supply parties in Portland regularly with the best.

JULIA DEAN HAYNE.—This lady will conclude her professional visit to the city to-night. It being her farewell benefit and last appearance we are sure that our citizens will turn out and fill the Theatre, showing by their presence that they appreciate and will support first class talent. The performance will consist of the beautiful domestic drama of the "Belle of the Faubourge," and the comedy of "The Honeymoon," which was received on a former representation with great favor.

A PRESENT WORTH HAVING.—Of course any present, however trivial, is worth acceptance as its value is not intrinsic but is to be measured by the unseen jewels of sentiment that imagination invests it with. Still, one does not object to a present having high intrinsic value. Where a woman knows he can afford, she will not think the loss of a present from her husband for its having cost from forty to two hundred dollars. Not a bit of it. Now, we have in our mind's eye, just such a present as a true wife would like to receive from her worser half. Such of our readers as would see it in its substantial form, may do so, by stepping into the sales-room of Messrs. Grover & Baker. In one of their sewing machines, so perfect in their construction, and so nicely adapted to every kind of work, we think that a genuine husband, who loves his wife, and would therefore lighten her heart by lighten ng her household cares, will find just such a present as he ought to feel bound to give her at this season of festivity and gratefulness. The prices of the machines, which are marvelously simple, and require no mechanical skill to manage, are from forty-five dollars upward. Let every sensible father of a family buy one, and in six months it will save its cost in "weariness and vexation of spirit" alone.—Philadelphia Mercury.

J. W. J. Pierson is the local agent for this city.

CONVICTED. — William Robinson, indicted by the Grand Jury of Benton County for killing William Grubbs last winter, was tried on Tuesday of this week, found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to one year imprisonment in the Penitentiary. A petition was immediately put in circulation, and signed by the Judge, ten of the Jurors that tried the case, and a respectable number of citizens, asking His Excellency, Governor Gibbs, to exercise in this case the pardoning power of the Executive.—Corvallis Gazette.

CELEBRATED
CONCLUSIVE PROOF
OF THE EFFICACY OF
HOSTETTER'S
STOMACH BITTERS!
PROTECTIVE MEDICATION
Great Truths
—IN—
SMALL COMPASS!

WHAT THE BITTERS ARE.
A pure, delightful, Vegetable Balm,
To cheer the spirits and the nerves to calm,
Protect the system from Miasma's bane,
Rouse torpid Nature and the strength sustain.

THEIR INGREDIENTS.
Juices of plants, roots, barks, of virtues rare,
By chemic art expressed with patient care,
And the mild spirit of the soundest rye—
Purest of all diffusive stimuli.

RESULTS OF THEIR USE.
Digestion rallies, appetite revives,
The food assimilates, the patient thrives,
Dyspepsia vanishes, with all its throes,
And peaceful sleep succeeds disturbed repose.

EFFECTS ON THE LIVER.
The bilious sufferer, languid, listless, pale,
Physicked for years, perhaps, without avail,
Finds in the BITTERS all he asks or needs,
And lives to smile at doctors and their creeds.

OPERATION ON THE BOWELS.
Relaxed, constricted, or the seat of pain,
These organs should not, for one day, remain.
The cause of each extreme you can expel—
The BITTERS, tone and regulate as well.

EFFECT ON THE DEBILITATED.
The flaccid muscles firmness soon acquire,
The frame gains flesh, the eye resumes its fire,
Strength to the limbs, hope to the heart returns,
Till staff and crutch the convalescent spurns.

BROKEN CONSTITUTION.
The constitution tried by pain or care,
Or wild indulgence, is not ...
The genial Tonic, as the ... dews
Quickens parched herbs ... wasted power renews.

CHILLS AND FEVER.
Damp, cold, exposure to the ... fog,
Brings on of ills a fearful catalogue.
But intermittents, whatso'er their kind
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS scatter to the wind.

SICK HEADACHE.
This torment dire, that all ... kills,
Yields not to pungent scents ... pills,
'Tis from the stomach that it ... rise;
Tone with the BITTERS, and the anguish flies.

WANT OF APPETITE.
Without due nourishment ... wane,
The blood grows ... the brain
But this Elixir ...
And "Good Digestion wait on Appetite."

THE BITTERS AFTER SICKNESS.
Exhausting fever leaves its victim low,
And, unassisted, Health's return is slow;
Then with the Bitters weakened Nature aid,
For in each drop vitality's conveyed.

AS A GENERAL PREVENTIVE.
By night and day, on river, sea or land,
In instant peril of disease we stand,
But its dread arrows harmless seem to glide
Past all with this invigorant fortified.

IMPURE WATER, ETC.
Roam through the world, through every climate range,
Here is the antidote 'gainst every change,
Water impure it tempers, and ...
Men in all hardships to all ... natures.

SEA SICKNESS.
Who has not felt how feebly words essay
The qualms one feels on shipboard to portray?
Dread them no more, defy old Neptune's power,
The Bitters cure the nausea in an hour.

AN UNADULTERATED TONIC.
Of all the liquors borne across the sea
Not one—mark that—from acrid poison's free,
These Bitters stand 'mid stimulants alone,
Powerless to irritate, though prompt to tone.

A MILD APERIENT.
Remember, too, aperient root and herb,
Are blent with those that relaxation curb
In this rare mixture; give this fact due weight,
That while the Bitters tone, they regulate.

A GENTLE CORRECTIVE.
If on the stomach food to acid turns,
And pungent gas the inner membrane burns,
This grand corrective soon removes the ban,
And from the heartburn frees the inner man.

A SAFE AND GENTLE ANODYNE.
Why not with all the opiates dispense,
That shake the nerves and paralyze the sense,
When these rare BITTERS soothe both mind and frame,
Inviting both to yield to slumbers claim?

THE WORLD'S OPINION.
Touching the BITTERS, this grand fact is clear,
Their fame fills all the Western Hemisphere.
Known in all lands, washed by its oceans twain,
HEALTH, HOPE and VIGOR, follow in their train!

AVOID COUNTERFEITS.
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS share the common fate
Of all things good—Impostors imitate,
Of these beware. Discreetly use your eyes,
From honest houses purchase your supplies.

CAUTION!
The Government Endorsement.
In order to guard against the impositions, the public are requested to take especial note of the beautifully engraved proprietary stamp, through which the Government of the United States officially authenticates every bottle of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. This shield, thrown by the Government over the proprietors and the public for their joint protection, is placed conspicuously across the cork and over the neck of each bottle, and cannot fail to strike the eye of the most casual observer. Nothing that purports to be HOSTETTER'S BITTERS can be genuine unless the stamp is there.
It is also proper to state that the BITTERS are sold exclusively in glass, and never under any circumstance by the gallon or the barrel. Impostors and imitators are abroad, and the only safeguard the public have against them is to see that the Bitters they buy bear the engraved label and note of hand of Messrs. HOSTETTER & SMITH, and the stamp above mentioned.

NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

Recollections of Washington Irving.

BY GAYLORD CLARK.

Among the numerous beautiful and characteristic letters quoted by Mr. Pierre M. Irving, in the fourth and last volume of his 'Life and Letters' of his revered and honored uncle, are several to his niece, Mrs. Storrow, of Paris, whom he frequently had the pleasure to meet in our earlier visits to Sunnyside. She was the daughter of Mr. Irving's sister, Mrs. Paris, and was one of the most amiable and affectionate of young women, and most warmly and devotedly attached to her beloved uncle. Being the eldest of his nieces, she was almost a mother to them all.

We remember well, Mr. Irving's remark touching young gentlemen (of most unexceptionable character and position, of course) 'swooping' about Sunnyside, and diverting the attention of his nieces; and the favored one coming to ask his permission to address his niece, 'as if,' said Mr. Irving, 'the whole matter had not been arranged beforehand! Now here is one in Paris, and another on the banks of the beautiful Cayuga, both happy, thank God, in their new relations; but I miss them so much that when I have a twinge or am asthmatically inclined, I don't lay it to the weather!

But to return: Mr. Irving, writing to his niece, Mrs. Storrow, in Paris, says, speaking of the cemetery beyond Tarrytown on the north and east, and overlooking the Hudson.

'The cemetery, which is secured by an act of the Legislature, takes in a part of the Beekman Woods, and commands one of the most beautiful views of the Hudson. The spot I have purchased is on the southern slope (the sepulchral 'Sunnyside') just on the edge of the old church-yard, which is included in the cemetery. I have had it inclosed with an iron railing, and shall have evergreens set around it. It is shaded by a grove of young oaks.

'There I have seen the remains of the family gathered together and interred, where they cannot be again disturbed, and a vast satisfaction it was to have rescued them from that restless city, where nothing is sacred. As I was selecting this place of sepulture, I thought of Byron's lines:

"Then look around,
And choose thy ground,
And take thy rest."

'I have marked out my resting place by my mother's side, and a space is left for me there.'

To our conception, the thought of being buried by the side of his mother, is exceedingly characteristic and beautiful. Even in old age, his love for his mother was strengthened by years. His last wish to be buried by her side, recalls a paragraph in a Maine newspaper exchange, which we showed to Mr. Irving, sitting, on a breezy morning, on a wooden bench in one of the pleasant walks adjoining the cottage. It was on an ancient citizen of New Hampshire, nearly one hundred years old, who, in a temporary dimness of intellect, upon the bed from which he was never to be moved in life, repeatedly exclaimed, 'I want to see mother!'

As was natural, Mr. Irving regarded this as an affecting incident, and the thought of the moment turned to Margaret's wish in 'Faust,' to be buried between her lover and her babe—'between the two; not too far off from either; close by each.'

Apropos of the cemetery in which Mr. Irving's honored remains repose, with those of his kindred, here is a note which in this connection will not be without interest:

"MY DEAR CLARK:—I send you herewith a plan of a rural cemetery, projected by some of the worthies of Tarrytown, on the woody hills adjacent to the Sleepy Hollow church. I have no pecuniary interest in it, yet I hope it may succeed, as it will keep that beautiful and umbrageous neighborhood sacred from the anti-poetical and all-leveling axe. Besides, I trust that I shall one day lay my bones there. The projectors are plain matter-of-fact men, but are already, I believe, aware of the blunder which they have committed in naming it the 'Tarrytown' instead of the 'Sleepy Hollow' Cemetery. The latter name would have been enough of itself to secure the patronage of all desirous of sleeping quietly in their graves.

I beg you to correct this oversight, should you, as I trust you will, notice this sepulchral enterprise.

'I hope, as the spring opens, you will accompany me in one of my brief visits to Sunnyside, when we will make another trip to Sleepy Hollow, and (thunder and lightning permitting) have a colloquy among the tombs. Yours, very truly,

WASHINGTON IRVING.

New York, April 27, 1849."

In that rural cemetery, Washington Irving reposes among his loved and beloved kindred. In a summer sojourn at the Ferry named of Dobb, classical in Revolutionary history, we frequented every Sunday the little Episcopal church which crowns the apex of the hill which looks out from a lesser elevation upon the broad bosom of the Hudson, as its most expansive breadth at the Tappan Zee. And about the middle of the west side of the little church there was a marble slab, very plain, yet of a 'sable silver,' bearing the name—'Peter Irving,' with his age and the date of his death. This was the old Greenburg, then the homestead of the Irving family, if we do not mistake. But now they all sleep together in a homestead which shall last through eternity.

It is of Mr. Peter Irving that we desire to say a few words. Mr. Washington Irving said this: 'When I was in Spain, and had in my mind the history of Columbus, my brother Peter was my right hand man. He it was who ought to be called the author of the work.'

'And when he went up stairs to bed one night at Sunnyside (in the very room where Mr. Irving dropped dead in his niece's arms) he preceded us with two sperm candles, walking backward in mock ceremony, saying as he entered: 'There are four hundred volumes in the choicest Spanish; juciest Castilian. You can read every one of them to-night. They are good editions; authentic, every one of them; all selected by my brother in Madrid; some in Seville; and those four brown ones from Burgos.'

Here was the beauty, the characteristic beauty of what Mr Irving said: He declared that his brother was the author of his history of Columbus. And he spoke of his death with so much emotion, that it made one feel that he desired that the whole merit of the book should be passed to the credit of his brother.

Jobson, the son of the Sheriff of a certain county in Texas, having had his furniture seized on a landlord's judgment, by his own father, in official capacity, was asked by a friend how the sheriff could have the heart thus to beggar his son.

"Not so," said Jobson with a grin, "I take it to be good evidence of pay-rental authority."

An elderly Pennsylvanian woman with her daughter, looking at the marble statue of Girard, in the college building, recently, startled the bystanders by exclaiming, "La, Sally, how white he is."

A "stethescope," says a young medical student, "is a spy-glass for looking in people's chests with your ears."

THEY ALL WILL DO SO.—The following good story, illustrative of the ridiculous excuses people will make when cornered, is told throughout a certain western State for a fact:

"A young gentleman, the son of a well-to-do farmer, had the misfortune to become deeply enamored of a young lady, and, after a brief courtship, proposed, and was accepted. But what was his surprise one evening, when about entering the parlor with the unceremonious freedom of a young lover, at discovering his inamorata upon the sofa, her arms around the neck of a neighboring youth, and her lips in such blissful proximity to his, as to convince our hero that matters were fearfully in earnest. In rage and mortification he rushes homeward, arriving there just in time to surprise his only sister, the pious wife of the village minister, 'squeezing to kill'' a young disciple of Blackstone. Nearly frantic at such unlooked-for disclosures among the girls he had deemed almost angels, he made a bold dash for the barn, running directly upon his mother, kissing the old family physician who had stolen a march upon her as she was looking after the poultry. This was too much, and, with a groan, the young man turned away undiscovered, resolved to pass the night with his grief beneath the stars, fearful of further revelations should he venture beneath the shelter of another roof.

The light of morning encouraged him, however, and dew-drenched and sorrowful he sought his home, when his mother, with true maternal solicitude, questioned him as to the cause of his sad looks; whereupon he related very briefly the inconstancy of his fair betrothed, receiving in reply the gratifying intelligence that she was a good-for-nothing, miserable hussy, and he must never speak to or notice again one so wholly unworthy. 'But mother,' he continued, unfalteringly, 'that is not all.' 'Not all? What can there be more?' was the next question. Why, when I hastened home, what should I find but my sister, my godly sister, in the arms of a rascally young lawyer?' 'Your sister!' shrieked the outraged mother, my child!— The ungrateful and wicked creature! Is it for this I have given her home and cared for her husband and children? I will do it no longer; such conduct is infamous—and to be so disgraced. She shall leave to-day and never enter my presence again.' 'But that is not the worst mother.' 'Not the worst! I can imagine nothing worse, what can it be?' 'When sick and discouraged by such exhibitions of sin, I left the house, determined to pass the night in the barn; I there found my mother kissing old Dr. F. Yes, indeed I did.' 'Well, never mind, my son, they all will do so.'"

THE RESOURCES OF MEXICO.—In the present position of Mexican affairs, a letter published in the London Times upon the condition of that country will be read with interest. The writer estimates that of $117,000,000, the total liabilities of Mexico, England is entitled to receive, at the very least, $79,000,000; that the maritime Custom Houses, if properly administered, would produce nearly three times the amount they now yield, and, that this, by a judicious system of internal taxation, might be still further increased. The Mexican silver mines he assumes to be almost inexhaustible, as Humboldt expressed a fear many years back that "should the mineral wealth of Mexico be ever thoroughly explored Europe would be inundated with the precious metals." Gold, he says, is known to exist in large quantities in Sonora, Chihuahua, and part of Guerrero; copper mines of surpassing richness exist in many parts of the country; cotton is indigenous, and grows in almost every State of Vera Cruz and the neighborhood of Tepic; sugar may be grown to any extent; coffee is found growing wild in many parts of the country, that of the finest quality (said to be the best in the world) being grown near Orizaba; and cochineal, indigo, jalap, vanilla, and numberless other articles, are all the produce of the country. "With such products growing at command," the writer proceeds to remark, "it is clear that Mexico must one of these days become one of the largest exporting countries of the world, and some of us may live to see the strange anomaly of its mineral wealth becoming of secondary importance. Surely it is worth an effort to try to re-organize a country which can best supply Europe with all she stands most in need of, and as England is the greatest commercial and manufacturing country on the face of the globe, and therefore likely to benefit to a greater extent than any other, it may be worthy of her consideration whether it would not answer her purpose to lend a helping hand in establishing a firm and respectable government, the only possible means by which these marvelous resources can ever be developed. How and in what manner this helping hand should be extended must be left to wiser heads than mine. I should be the last to advocate her joining in any military operation; but whether her moral support and credit might not be usefully employed is another question. To secure the immediate repayment of $79,000,000, to open up an extensive mart for Manchester and other goods, to secure for herself a constant and unceasing supply of cotton, to throw open to the civilized world such vast resources, and last, though not least, to assist in the regeneration of 8,000,000 human beings, is not a subject to be lightly dealt with."

SPEECH OF WILLIAM D. KELLY.—The following eloquent passage is an extract from William D. Kelly's speech made lately in the House of Representatives, in reply to Brooks, of New York:

Sir, I am no son of Massachusetts or New England, as the gentleman is; but I remember that in my wayward youth, being free from the indenture that had bound me to a long apprenticeship, but not having attained manhood, I wandered from my native Pennsylvania, counter to the current tide of emigration, in pursuit of employment and found a home in Massachusetts; and I may be pardoned if I pause for a moment to feebly testify my gratitude to her in whom I found a gentle and generous foster mother. I thank God for the Puritan spirit of Massachusetts. A boy, poor, friendless, and in pursuit of wages for manual toil, I found open to me in the libraries of Boston, the science, history and literature of the world. At a cost that even the laboring man did not feel I found, night after night, and week after week, in her lyceums and lecture rooms, the means of intercourse with her Bancrofts, her Brownsons, her Everetts, her Channings, her Prescotts, her Emersons, and scores of others as learned and as able, though perhaps less distinguished sons than these. I thus learned what it was to be an American citizen, and to what length American civilization will be carried; and I found four years of life spent at well-paid toil, worth to me what the same number of years in a college might have been. I thank the men of Massachusetts, as will the scholars in public schools fashioned upon her principles in the city of Charleston in good time. They may be white, they may be black, they may be yellow; but when the civilization of Massachusetts shall have penetrated that dark city and fashioned its institutions, as it will, the pleasure of the pupils in the schools will be to thank God, night and morning, for the spirit of Massachusetts which kept liberty alive, and finally brought its blessings to the entire people of the country. Yes, sir, Massachusetts in the past two or three years has given a practical application of those principles which in twelve or fifteen centuries gave freedom to Europe, and is about giving it to all the people of America.
